

Your health, that of your children and your entire family as well as the environment are very important to us.

For this reason, we have certified the building according to the International LEED standard which guarantees sustainable and healthy construction.

And that means that if you decide to buy an apartment in a green building, that building will only be built with ecological and health-friendly building materials. Sustainable construction enables high water and electricity savings. Carefully selected materials offer a high-quality interior and a pleasant feeling of space.
